Spanish Verb Panels

A resource for interactively practising the use of verbs in different tenses

Overview

In this document

On one side of a strip of laminated card, a high frequency target language verb is conjugated in the first person across the main tenses. On the reverse side, the same forms are given in English. On both sides, the verb form is given under an English grammatical heading.

Working in pairs, students attempt to win as many verb panels as possible. The 'tester' holds up a verb panel with the target language forms facing him/her. The 'tested' student is faced by the English equivalents and has to translate each verb form into the target language without error.

For the sake of simplicity, both students read the verb panel from left to right. The tenses are ordered with differentiation in mind.

There are twenty-five high frequency verbs in the set. They are best used on a regular basis as a starter activity so that students cumulatively improve their knowledge over time.

The sets can be emailed to students who can then print them out and make their own revision packs.

Printing out:

Firstly print out target-language sheets (odd numbers 1, 3, 5 –17). Turn card over and put through printer again, this time printing the English on the other side (even numbers 2, 4, 6 – 18). Laminate and cut out in strips. Be careful to ensure that the English and Spanish versions grids print directly back-to-back.

Points to consider when using this resource

A Foundation Tier student might just want to practise the main three forms of the verb from left to right (present/past/future). Higher Tier students should aim to give all forms, which, in the case of Spanish, means seven different conjugations
