"This was my first meeting of the Equality and Rights Advocate Group for young people in Hampshire which brought together students from nine different secondary schools, creatively led and inspired by Minnie Moore. I was so impressed! It was one of the best workshops I have ever attended, as students gained valuable insights from experts in their fields. Students engaged with each other and the inclusivity and passion was evident throughout the morning. They left feeling empowered and ready to return to their schools to share their knowledge and lead discussions with their peers. These students want to make a difference. The welcoming environment fostered open dialogue and collaboration, making it a highly recommended experience for all involved. I can't wait to bring my group to the next session."
